

Rainford Heritage Society

News Sheet

Hi Everyone,

Thank you for your amazing support during lockdown. Following government recommendations the Heritage Society is now up and running again at full capacity. We are taking the advice that we have to start living with Covid 19, just as we do with influenza.

Our Quiz Night is going ahead on Friday, 17th September and as there are only a few places left, it is unlikely that we will be able to take any last minute bookings on this occasion.

The next indoor meeting is on Monday, 20th September when Dr Tom Preston, who has very kindly stepped in at the last minute to present his illustrated talk on Southport's Bluebeard: The Infamous Case of Dr Clements. Watch out for our poster giving full details. We are very grateful to Tom for agreeing to do this after being let down by the planned speaker. Usual fees will apply, ie £2 for members, £3 non members.

At Christmas we will be publishing our first newsletter since lockdown so business members please get your info to me first week in December and we will advertise your Christmas events as in the past. Businesses that have made any changes in the way you now run please let me know and I will publish it for you.

If any members have suggestions for the newsletter please let us know ASAP.

The Society is in the process of producing a Heritage Calendar for 2022 and we will let everyone know when this is available and the price.

Rainford Parish Councillor John Long has taken the Heritage Society as his charity during his time in office so please support his events at the Village Hall.

The committee and I look forward to seeing you once again at one of our events or indoor meetings.
